Table with multiple columns containing numerical data, text descriptions, and codes. The table is organized into several distinct sections, possibly representing different categories or time periods. The columns include numerical values, text descriptions, and codes. The data is presented in a structured grid format.

Main data table with multiple columns containing numerical and text information, likely representing a financial or statistical dataset. The table is organized into several distinct sections or categories, with data points ranging from 1 to over 1000. Each row contains a series of values, some of which are highlighted in red or green, possibly indicating specific data points of interest.
